Department of Mathematics & Statistics

Southern Illinois University Edwardsville, a comprehensive state university 20 miles from downtown St. Louis, Missouri, invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor beginning August 2011. The applicant should have a Ph.D. in statistics or mathematics education, or a closely related discipline, but ABDs very near completion will be considered (if Ph.D. is not completed at the beginning of the contract period, a one-year term appointment will be made at the rank of Instructor). We will consider applicants who have a strong commitment to teaching and a demonstrated capacity to perform research. For those whose PhD is in statistics, the duties will include teaching courses in statistics and mathematics, mentoring students through senior projects and master's theses, performing research, and contributing to the department, college, and university through appropriate service activities. For those whose PhD is in mathematics education, duties will include teaching courses in mathematics, and possibly statistics, mentoring students through senior projects and master's theses, advising and supervising student teachers, performing research, and contributing to the department, college, and university through appropriate service activities.

The Department of Mathematics and Statistics has 19 tenure or tenure-track faculty members and offers undergraduate programs in mathematics, applied mathematics, statistics, actuarial science, and secondary education, and master's programs in mathematics, statistics and operations research, applied and computational mathematics, and post secondary mathematics.
