History at SIUE

The Department of Historical Studies graduate program contributes to the personal enrichment of students, as well as lifelong learning skills and recognition of responsibilities as members of a society composed of many communities of memory. Students leave the program, housed within the College of Arts and Sciences, with a firm education in the liberal arts and with excellent communication and critical thinking skills.

Career Opportunities

The graduate degree in history serves as important preparation for the pursuit of a variety of career opportunities. Some students choose to pursue careers as history instructors, while others choose to pursue careers in various other fields. According to PayScale Inc. in the Wall Street Journal, mid-career history graduates earn an average salary of $71,000.

Recent SIUE graduates are currently employed at places such as the National Archives in Washington, D.C.; the Department of Defense in St. Louis; Johns Hopkins University; St. Louis Science Center; St. Louis Public Library; and George Mason University, among others.

Some of our students go on to pursue PhD programs, and have most recently completed or are currently enrolled in programs at Kent State, University of New Hampshire, Georgetown, Yale, UCLA, University of Nebraska, Western Michigan, Indiana University, University of Oklahoma, University of Illinois-Urbana Champaign, and many others.

Hands-on Learning

Students at SIUE have the opportunity to participate in internships and community-based projects while pursuing each of the three programs offered. Past internship placements in St. Louis have included, the Missouri History Museum; National Archives and Records Center; National Park Service; St. Louis Zoo; St. Louis Science Center; Campbell House; Jefferson Barracks; and St. Louis Court Archives. Students have also completed internships at places such as the Benjamin Stephenson House in Edwardsville, Illinois; The Gardens at SIUE; SIUE University Museum; and Cahokia Mounds in Collinsville, Illinois.

Our students have also participated in community-based projects, which have included oral history projects at the Edwardsville Public Library and Granite City Lincoln Place Historical Society; Lewis and Clark Camp Dubois; Archives of the Archdiocese of Chicago; Maryville Historical Museum and Schmidt Art Center at SWIC. Practicums are offered as a class (HIST 582) and are available as an elective in all three programs.

GRADUATE SCHOOL

- Two letters of recommendation
- An academic writing sample
- Statement of Purpose: A one-page letter of intent discussing their preparation for graduate study in history, their area(s) of historical interest and their career goals.

Program application materials may be uploaded during the application process, but official transcripts must be sent directly from the school attended, and test scores must be verifiable with the appropriate testing service. Please contact the Graduate Admissions office with questions regarding the application submission process at graduateadmissions@siue.edu.

Review the SIUE Admissions Policy for more information.

Application Deadline

All application materials are due by February 1. Incomplete applications will not be considered. The department's graduate program committee will review application materials and make a final determination of admittance normally by the middle of February. Typically, applicants will be considered for entry only for the fall semester. Admission for spring or summer term may be arranged for exceptional circumstances. Applicants may petition the graduate program director to make these arrangements.

Cooperative Doctoral Program

Faculty in the Department of Historical Studies participate with History Department faculty at Southern Illinois University Carbondale in offering a cooperative program leading to the Doctor of Philosophy degree in History. Prospective students may initiate application procedures at either campus and may enroll in courses at either or both campuses concurrently. The doctoral degree is conferred by Southern Illinois University Carbondale. For more detailed information, contact the department directly at either Carbondale or Edwardsville.

Graduation Requirements

Students who follow a thesis plan of study will be required to pass an oral defense of the thesis and related historical material and submit a final draft to the Graduate School.

Upon completion of the course work, students pursuing the exam option must pass a written examination, at least three hours long, covering one principal and two secondary fields. They are also required to take an oral examination based on their written exams, portfolio and related historical material. The chairperson of the student's advisory committee will provide guidance to the student regarding the nature of the examination. Such guidance will include a list of readings compiled by the advisory committee, which, in conjunction with the student's course work, will serve as the basis for the examination. Exam option students intending to take examinations in the spring semester must declare their intention to take examinations by September 15 of the preceding fall semester; students intending to take examinations in the fall semester must declare their intention to do so by April 1 of the preceding spring semester. Declaring their intention to take exams requires them to form an exam committee and, in consultation with their committee, establish reading lists for the exams. Spring semester written exams must be completed by April 1 and an oral examination based on the written exams and the portfolio must be held by April 15. Fall semester written exams must be completed by November 15 and an oral examination based on the written exams and the portfolio must be held by December 5. Generally, master's exams will not be scheduled during the summer term.

Review the graduation policy for more information.

This information is concurrent with the 2018-2019 Academic Catalog. Courses are subject to change at any time.

Curriculum

Both thesis and non-thesis plans of study are available. Students pursuing either the thesis or the non-thesis plan must complete a minimum of 33 semester hours. Students entering in the 2018-2019 academic year will take a two-semester sequence of History 555 (Theory and Methods) and History 556 (Research Seminar). Students may also apply to participate in an internship program that allows them to obtain practical experience in non-teaching career fields related to history. Students may, with the approval of the graduate program director, apply up to nine semester hours from related disciplines toward their credit hour requirements. All students must demonstrate a reading knowledge of a foreign language (modern or classical) either by special examination or by completion of two years of college level study in a single language with an average of C or better. Students must earn a grade of "B" or better in each course counting toward their graduate degree, with the exception of foreign languages. Candidates for the Master of Arts degree in history may pursue one of the two following plans of study:

Thesis Option

Students complete 33 hours of graduate credit, 6 of which represent the History and Theory class (HIST 555); 3 are the Graduate Seminar in Historical Research (HIST 556) and 6 of which represent a well-conceived thesis on a topic chosen in consultation with a faculty advisory committee. Enrollment in HIST 599 is required. Students will prepare a research plan during the semester or summer immediately preceding their first HIST 599 class. Students will present the research plan to the chair of his or her committee and will then distribute it to the rest of the committee. It is strongly suggested that the entire committee and the student meet together to comment on the plan. Students will not receive an instructor permit to register for HIST 599 until this process is complete.

Exam Option

This plan emphasizes breadth of historical understanding while not ignoring research techniques. Students concentrating in one primary and two complementary secondary areas of emphasis complete 33 hours of graduate credit, which includes completion of the History and Theory class (HIST 555) (6 credit hours) and the Graduate Seminar in Historical Research (HIST 556) (3 credit hours). Exam option students also enroll in 6 credit hours of Readings for Exams (HIST 598).

Suggested areas of emphasis can include:

- U.S. to 1877 Ancient Cultural History
- U.S. since 1877 Medieval Europe African Diaspora
- U.S. Economic History Early Modern Europe Gender History
- African-American History Modern Europe Intellectual History
- Middle Eastern History Asian History

The broad fields may be modified in consultation with the student's advisory committee. Before embarking on any area(s) of emphasis, a student should consult the appropriate faculty member(s). All exam option students are required to develop a portfolio of two research papers, written for different faculty while enrolled at SIUE, that reflect their primary, and one of their secondary fields of interest. All students are required to submit their portfolio to their examination committee a month before the scheduling of their written exams. In order for written examinations to be scheduled, the portfolio must first be approved by the student's committee.
