specialty foods of Panama. Continue to Casco Antiguo, the Old Quarter – a UNESCO World Heritage site. A short walking tour down its cobblestoned streets showcases the Plaza de la Independencia, the Presidential Palace, the National Theater and restored colonial churches and monuments. After lunch at leisure, ascend to Cerro Ancon's peak for a captivating view of Panama City. Tonight, relish Panamanian cuisine at a special welcome dinner with your fellow travelers. Today breakfast and dinner will be included.

Day 3: Saturday, March 23, 2013

Panama City

Today you may choose to explore Panama City on your own or board the Pacific Queen for an optional partial transit through the Panama Canal. Day 4: Sunday, March 24, 2013

Panama City - Gamboa

Head to Miraflores Locks Visitor Center to watch ships traverse the locks and learn about this engineering marvel's rich past, present and future. Visit a local handicraft market and peruse artisan souvenirs made by indigenous peoples, including the "mola" embroidery of the Kuna Yala. Continue to the Gamboa Rainforest Resort – your home for the next three nights. Here your options are many: enjoy the resort's pool and spa, soak in the sights and sounds from the hammock on your balcony, or take an optional aerial tram ride, kayak trip in the Panama Canal, or nighttime safari boat ride. Today breakfast will be included.

Perhaps travel to an Emberá indigenous village...board dugout canoes for a scenic ride up the Chagres River to a settlement of Emberá, known as the "Keepers of the Rainforest." You may also choose an optional tour to Gatún Locks and the historic Portobelo Fort, which played a crucial role in the trade routes of Panama's past and the pirate's routes of plunder. This evening, learn about the tradition of folklore dance in Panama during a private salsa lesson! Today breakfast will be included.

Emberá Indigenous Village

Embark on an enchanting excursion to an Emberá village. Transfer to the riverbank and board dugout canoes for a short, scenic ride up the Chagres River to a settlement of Emberá. Known as the "Keepers of the Rainforest," the Emberá strive to preserve their rich indigenous heritage despite the increasing pressures of the modern world. Relocated to this area from the Darién, the Emberá lost their nomadic, agricultural way of life but now welcome small groups of visitors. Explore how they are keeping alive ancient techniques of homebuilding and handicrafts. See traditional dances, learn how they create their gorgeous basket weavings and tagua nut carvings, and partake in a simple lunch cooked the traditional way before returning by dugout canoe to the mainland. Spend an unforgettable afternoon with the welcoming and friendly Emberá and gain extraordinary insight into this fascinating culture. Note: When visiting the Embera Village, you will be required to board a dug-out canoe (with assistance from boat captain and staff) which has restricted legroom. The canoe ride is approx. 20 minutes long. If you have hip implants or a restricted ability to board and comfortably sit in a canoe, please check with your doctor in advance and inform your Tour Manager. You may choose to remain at the Gamboa Rainforest Resort and take advantage of the hotel amenities/activities this day instead.

Luminescent pairs of eyes reveal scores of reptiles hunting after dark along the edges of the river and Gatún Lake. Two protected species – the crocodile and the caiman – populate local water. But reptiles are not the only stars of this nocturnal adventure; calls of the nightjar (a whippoorwill cousin) and frogs echo over the still water. Bats dive to the water's surface for a quick drink. From the Canal to the Caribbean

$105 USD

Delve further into the history of Panama and the Canal with a visit to the Gatún Locks and Portobelo Fort, a UNESCO World Heritage site. At Gatún Locks, enjoy an up-close view from the observation deck of the three locks in action and the mules (electric locomotives) which guide ships through. Gain a complete perspective of the entire canal route. Each lock chamber requires almost 27 million gallons of water to fill – and then drain – which occurs in less than 10 minutes. The massive 7-ft. thick gates control the flow, helping ships raise or lower 85 feet on their journey to the Pacific or Atlantic Ocean. Continue towards Colon and the spectacular Caribbean coast on your way to the sleepy bayside town of Portobelo, founded in 1597. Portobelo played a crucial role in the silver trade routes of Panama's past and the pirates' routes of plunder. Enjoy lunch at a lovely local seafood restaurant. See the colonial fortifications where the canons are still pointing towards the bay they once protected. After exploring the historic Fort and the Custom House, visit San Felipe Church, home to Panama's most venerated religious figure, the Black Christ. According to legend it possesses divine powers. This tour provides an in-depth look into Panama's colorful past and exposes you to some of its most stunning scenery.

Note: this option runs at the same time as Embera Indigenous Village; passengers can choose one optional tour this day. Duration: Approximately 6 hours. Please note a minimum of 7 passengers is required. Transportation is included.
