10th Season of Xfest

This weekend on Segue, Southern Illinois University Edwardsville's premier radio show that discusses the lives and work of the people on campus and beyond, Dean Greg Budzban, PhD, interviews Chuck Harper, Chair of the SIUE Theater and Dance Department and Grant Andree, Director of Arts and Issues.

This episode of Segue will air at 9 a.m. this Sunday, Sep 1, on WSIE 88.7 FM The Sound and siue.edu/wsie.

Theater and Dance has collaborated for ten years with Arts and Issues to bring a variety of performing artists to campus to both perform publicly and provide workshops for students.

Typically, XFest brings in four groups with workshops beginning on Monday of the XFest week, culminating with a Friday night public performance.

Since this year represents the tenth anniversary, five groups will be coming this year. The theme is a return to crowd favorites from the nine prior years.

This year's XFest kicks off with a performance that echoes the kick-off of the first performance of the first XFest.

Originally, CAS envisioned XFest as a summer draw to campus; but lack of early participation led to the decision to move XFest to the beginning of Fall semesters.

To hear more about participants and performances scheduled for XFest, tune in at 9 a.m. on Sunday, Sep 1st to WSIE 88.7 The Sound.
