

Wednesday, March 23, 2016

Lifelong Learning Opportunities, Today and March 24

SIUE faculty, staff, students are invited to attend for free, this week's Lifelong Learning Program presentations. The cost is $5 for the general public to attend on campus presentations.

The future of Kurdistan is presented by Dr. Denise DeGarmo, associate professor of political science.

10:30–11:45 a.m.

Today

Morris University Center, Oak-Redbud Room

Cherokees on Their Forced Removal or "Trail of Tears" through Illinois in 1838-39 is presented by Dr. Rowena McClinton, professor in the Department of Historical Studies.

1:15–2:30 p.m.

Today

SIUE Center for Spirituality and Sustainability

Giant Lasers will be presented by Dr. Jack Glassman, Associate Professor of Physics.

9:30–10:30 a.m.

Thursday, March 24

Main Street Community Center, 1003 N. Main Street, Edwardsville

More details about the presentations can be found online at Lifelong Learning Programs or contact Patty Bade with the SIUE Office of Educational Outreach at 618-650-3985 or pbade@siue.edu.