

Three very different topics are offered as part of Lifelong Learning this week on and off campus.

"The Archaeology of Early Spanish Missions in Southeastern United States: Exploring Multiethnic Communities Through Food" will be presented by Carol Colaninno, PhD, RPA, assistant research professor in the SIUE STEM Center

10:30-11:45 a.m.

Wednesday, Sept. 21

Morris University Center, Hickory/Hackberry Room

"Healthy Money" will be presented by Robert Blain, PhD, SIUE Department of Sociology and Criminal Justice Studies emeritus professor

1:15-2:30 p.m.

Wednesday, Sept 21

Morris University Center, Hickory/Hackberry Room

"Music Lovers Trip to Cuba" will be presented by Charles "Otis" Sweezey, SIUE Department of Theater and Dance emeritus professor

9:30-10:30 a.m.

Thursday, Sept 22

Main Street Community Center

1003 N. Main Street

Edwardsville

SIUE faculty, staff and students may attend for FREE. The cost for the public to attend on campus is $5, but the Main Street Community Center presentations are free to everyone.

For more information about these upcoming presentations, please visit Educational Outreach and open Lifelong Learning, or contact Patty Bade at pbade@siue.edu, 650-3985.