

Race and American Politics Presentation, April 6

The Department of Political Science and its Civic Education Project, in conjunction with the Scholars Strategy Network, invite you to come hear renowned scholar Dr. Zoltan Hajnal, professor of political science at the University of California, San Diego, present the practical implications of his research in a talk entitled "Dangerously Divided: Race and its Consequences in American Politics."

9 a.m.

Wednesday, April 6

Peck Hall Room 0409

A scholar of racial and ethnic politics, urban politics, immigration and political behavior, Hajnal is the author of "White Backlash: Immigration, Race, and American Politics," "Why Americans Don't Join the Party: Race, Immigration and the Failure of Political Parties to Engage the Electorate," "America's Uneven Democracy: Race, Turnout, and Representation in City Politics" and "Changing White Attitudes toward Black Political Leadership."

His research has been featured in the New York Times, the Washington Post, and a range of other media outlets.