Shakespeare's earliest comedy comes to vivid life in this 1950s inspired production. All of Shakespeare's great comic stylings are on display: lovesick boys with wandering eyes, lovesick girls who dress as boys, and idiotic servants with plans of their own, all conspire to make a love match. Part romantic farce and part costume quick-change extravaganza, this promises to be a night of romantic silliness that won't soon be forgotten. For many Shakespeare fans, the best characters in the play are Launce, the clownish servant of Proteus, and his dog Crab, to whom many attribute to be the most scene-stealing, non-speaking role ever created! This production also features a full cast of SIUE alumni.
