

“Learner-Centered Learning”

May 22, 2002

Hamline University
St. Paul, Minnesota

How Green is My Campus?
Environmental Audits as a
Teaching Tool in Environmental Studies

Aldemaro Romero
Macalester College

Drew Science 307

Environment Studies is an interdisciplinary subject whose orientation is toward problem-solving. Campus Environmental Audits represent an opportunity for students to learn how to carry out an assessment of the college's policies and practices while engaging in community issues.