SPRING 2024 CATALOG

Enriching • Empowering • Engaging • Education for all

Greetings and happy 2024! What a ride this last year has been. As I reflect on 2023, I recall the excitement of seeing our students, summer campers and community members gathering again on campus en masse, and it has been fulfilling to see and hear so much social interaction. I didn't realize I had been missing the sights and sounds of people gathering, talking, laughing and sharing. Many are still working through challenges thrust upon us over the last few years, yet here we stand ready to take on all the 2024 has to offer. I hope our catalog holds some opportunities for you to gather with us this spring.

New things are happening at SIUE in 2024! We have a wonderful array of opportunities to help you explore, learn and evolve this spring. First, we are excited to announce the Jr. Cougars series beginning this semester. Many of these offerings were suggested by summer campers or their parents/guardians, and your input helped us develop a unique mix of programs for diverse age groups.

Most think about fall as the best time to return to school, but spring also is a great time to get started. SIUE has several online programs that complement our on-campus programs, including undergraduate, graduate and certificate opportunities. Browse the complete list of our online programs by navigating to siue.edu/online.

SIUE offers credentialing programs that allow earners to expand their skillsets and show those skills to employers through the use of a digital badge. Look for  throughout our catalog and note our new interpersonal communication and data science credentials.

Take a look at our new knitting and crocheting classes; our trips, including the Behind the Scenes at the City Museum excursion; and the amazing lifelong learning speaker lineup offered this spring. Many of our most popular classes are returning in music, arts, languages and wellness and our grant writing series will also be available again this semester. We encourage everyone to register and pay online through our secure portal and offer some information to help you set up an account to complete registration and payment online.

I hope you will join us on campus or virtually this spring. I wish you all the best for 2024.

SIUE SUCCESSFUL COMMUNITIES COLLABORATIVE

siue.edu/successful-communities

Since its start in 2017, the SIUE Successful Communities Collaborative (SSCC) has partnered with nine different cities and villages in Madison and St. Clair counties. Over 800 SIUE students from approximately 25 disciplines have been engaged thus far with partners through community-identified projects that are embedded in their courses. Additionally, SSCC coordinates two special projects: Community-Oriented Digital Engagement Scholars (CODES) initiative and SIUE's Truth, Racial Healing and Transformation (TRHT) Campus Center.

CODES introduces first-generation, Black, Latinx and/or Pell-eligible students to digital community engagement. CODES' first cohort of scholars began in fall 2022. CODES Scholars work in small research teams that focus on seemingly unsolvable problems, such as climate change or poverty's manifestations across rural and urban environments. The project is led by Jessica DeSpain, PhD, professor in the Department of English Language and Literature and co-director of the SIUE Interdisciplinary Research and Informatics (IRIS) Center, and Connie Frey Spurlock, PhD, associate professor in the Department of Sociology and director of SSCC. Learn more at siue.edu/vcedi/codes/.

The SIUE TRHT Campus Center seeks to prepare the next generation of leaders to confront racism and dismantle the belief in a hierarchy of human value. The integration of TRHT and SSCC results in more equitable access to high impact practices (HIPs) for SIUE students because community-identified needs are embedded into courses in which students are enrolled. This is important because HIPs are recognized for their positive impact on retention and learning outcomes for students across many backgrounds. As community and campus stakeholders collaborate and achieve goals together, truths can be revealed, authentic relationships can be formed, and racial equity can be advanced.

If your organization is interested in partnering with SSCC or TRHT, contact Connie Frey Spurlock at (618) 650-2945 or cfrey@siue.edu.
