

The Gardens at SIUE, a Missouri Botanical Gardens Signature Garden, comprises existing woodlands, a pond, grasslands and an arboretum on a lush and rolling 35-acre site. The Gardens is a living laboratory dedicated to supporting the educational and research mission of the University.

The master plan creates a public garden featuring spectacular horticulture, event spaces, areas for social gathering and contemplative gardens.

Environmental sustainability, conservation and stewardship are cornerstones of The Gardens' vision, providing a unique opportunity to research, implement and demonstrate innovative green technologies. Gardens, facilities and amenities will feature renewable, recycled and sustainably produced materials.

For information about supporting or volunteering in The Gardens, please contact The Gardens Director Doug Conley at 618-650-3788, or doconle@siue.edu or visit www.siue.edu/gardens.

Mission Statement

The mission of The Gardens at SIUE is to create a venue of beauty and distinction that will support the educational and research components of the University; that will engage the public in educational opportunity and campus life; and that will provide a haven for relaxation and enjoyment for all.
