

Online Course

Credit or non-credit option

HIST 554

PROBLEMS IN 19TH CENTURY AMERICA

Only 2 more students are needed for the course to be offered!

**This three credit ONLINE graduate course can be taken for non-credit (or 45 hours of PD) for a smaller fee.

PROBLEMS IN 19TH CENTURY AMERICA (HIST 554) takes a thematic and hands-on approach to analyzing significant issues in nineteenth-century US history. The course focuses on specific themes in US history in conjunction with content collections on the Library of Congress website. It offers a content-specific curriculum that situates lesson planning within historical content. Students undertake online, weekly discussions of major themes of nineteenth-century history and create primary-source history lessons using the Library of Congress digital collections with the help of a Teaching with Primary Sources liaison and a professional historian.

In the course, we will:

- Analyze major trends in 19th century US history through the following themes: Politics and War, Race and Gender, Society and Culture.
- Learn the major historiographical trends in 19th century US history through reading secondary sources by professional historians.
- Strengthen skills and gain strategies for evaluating and analyzing secondary sources.
- Strengthen skills and gain strategies for locating, evaluating, and analyzing primary sources.
- Evaluate and create topic-specific, standards-based, and content-informed lessons that integrate primary sources from the Library of Congress and exemplify effective instructional practices.

WHEN

Jul 05, 2016 - Aug 05, 2016

Questions?

Contact Jason Stacy- jstacy@siue.edu

3 graduate credits
or 45 PD hours

No textbooks required!

Inquiry Learning Assignments and “problem
questions” drive
the interactive
nature of this course

Learn how present
historians view
19th century
America!

Enroll Today!

[https://www.siue.edu/
educationaloutreach/
registration.shtml](https://www.siue.edu/educationaloutreach/registration.shtml)

Enrollment link listed under “College of Arts and Sciences- History”