

LEARNING WITH VETERAN STORIES

TEACHER WORKSHOP

MAY 31-JUNE 3

24 PD HOURS (9AM – 3:00 PM)

Join us as we explore various strategies to help students analyze oral histories and interviews, understand multiple viewpoints, and learn how to begin a project to collect and edit a story with a local veteran. This professional development is like no other- you will have an opportunity to capture a story for generations to come. Don't miss out on this very rewarding learning experience! Experienced this event before? Feel free to come and learn with us again. Each year we learn more and gain confidence together!

LOCATION

O'Fallon Township High School- Production Lab Classroom
600 S Smiley St, O'Fallon, Illinois 62269

EDUCATORS RECEIVE:

A FREE collaborative team experience, strategies and ideas in utilizing and creating oral histories with students from colleagues and presenters, resources on a flash drive, PD hours, light breakfast and lunch each day, and ongoing support beyond the event!

"[The workshop] Presents a great way for students to get a hands-on understanding of history. Also a great way to get community involvement with students and interviewees."

"We got to actually do what we learned about this week. I was nervous about the interview but it was wonderful."

"I can't wait for the next workshop and am excited to implement my new knowledge next school year."

"I enjoyed working and having time with other teachers. I loved meeting our veteran. The food was wonderful! Learning about oral history was fun. The presenters are great!"

"Thank you for the opportunity to work with such great people."
