Be a Part of the Mission

The National Foundation for Ectodermal Dysplasias' Helping Hands has been implemented as a way to further carry out the NFED's mission.

The program is based on three pillars of connecting, empowering and engaging to carry out our mission.

To keep the program running takes dedicated individuals. Volunteers are needed to commit to one of the pillars. Find something you are passionate about and help spread the NFED love.

Benefits of Engaging, Empowering and Connecting

- Connecting with new people
- Learning more about yourself
- Being a part of a cause

We will help you, help us.

Upon receiving your information, the NFED will contact you about your recent commitment to Helping Hands.

The corresponding packet will be mailed to you. The packet will help define your role and contain useful information to become the part of Helping Hands you are meant to be.

Our mission is to empower and connect people touched by ectodermal dysplasias through education, support and research.

Encourage Others

If you know someone who you feel would be an asset to Helping Hands, please pass along this information or have them contact the NFED office.

Volunteers are the drive keeping the National Foundation for Ectodermal Dysplasias alive. The Foundation needs you!

Give a Hand

The three pillars of Helping Hands are designed for members to become involved and give back to their communities and the Foundation.

We ask that you take some time to reflect and consider stepping up and lending a hand to Helping Hands.

Endless Rewards

Being part of Helping Hands will continue to create a strong foundation and community which the NFED thrives on.

Through empowering, engaging and connecting with the communities around us, the NFED mission will continue to open many new doors from meeting new people to making a difference in the NFED community and the community around you; the rewards are endless.
