Music for Piano and Orchestra: The Recorded Repertory

Compiled by Dr. Allan B. Ho
Professor emeritus, musicology
Southern Illinois University Edwardsville
(updated 11/3/2026)

For the most up-to-date edition, see http://www.siue.edu/~aho/discography/Discography.pdf
Mirror sites have earlier versions with errors and omissions.

This discography includes titles of works for piano and orchestra (piano + 7 or more instruments) recorded for commercial and non-commercial release (including synthesized or chamber renditions when no other version is known). Additional information (labels, source, performers' names) is available upon request. The proliferation of amateur and student compositions on youtube, soundcloud, etc. has made it impractical to document every work for piano and orchestra that has been recorded. Beginning in March 2013, works that have been recorded only in synthesized performances have not been added if

(1) the composer is anonymous; or
(2) the work has limited musical merit or is extremely brief.

Note: underlined works have synthesized solo and/or orchestra parts and are mainly by student or amateur composers. Some of these may be AI generated, in whole or part.
Sigla (§, +, ) preceding works are for the compiler's use, to access information on the format and location of recordings.
• = private archival recording.

This discography will be updated regularly (see the date at the top).
I would appreciate hearing from anyone who has a recording of works without any sigla or is aware of additions or corrections that need to be made.
Composers and performers, please submit an mp3/m4a of works absent from this discography to aho@siue.edu

Sincere thanks to everyone who has contributed to this discography, especially Jay Beatty, Corentin Boissier, Tobias Bröker, Maurizio Brunetti, Berkant Haydin, Peter Heinze, Darrel Hoffman, Ruud Janssen, David Kloepper, Markus Lång, Ernst Lumpe, Karl Miller, Marek Niewiadomski, Miklos Pogonyi, Ron Retherford, Onno van Rijen, Holger Sambale, Atsushi Sato, Jim Semadeni, Yan Jiet Tsou, and Ed Wheeler.

Leimer, Kurt (1920-74) Germany [according to the Kurt Leimer Stiftung, "Leimer's four piano concertos were composed in close collaboration with Kurt Overhoff (1902-1986), the former assistant of Wilhelm Furtwängler and later Kapellmeister, composer and music educator. Overhoff was responsible for the detailed elaboration of Leimer's musical ideas as well as for the instrumentation." Recently, Adrian Müller (in Kurt Overhoff: Im Banne Bayreuths [Kurt Overhoff: Under the Spell of Bayreuth]) has claimed that Overhoff actually was the "ghostwriter" of these works and Eva Martina Hanke (in Kurt Leimer: Nachlassverzeichnis [Kurt Leimer: Estate Directory]) has described the manuscripts of each of the concertos as "Autograph Overhoff," "Reproduktion des Autographs Overhoff," and the like, indicating that they are in Overdorff's hand rather than Leimer's.]

§Totentanz, S. 126 (standard version, 1859)

+Totentanz, S. 126 (final version, 1881. According to Kenneth Hamilton, Liszt "supplied Siloti with some significant revisions to the work, which he had devised after hearing earlier performances given by his pupils Julius Zarembski and Martha Remmert. These revisions remained unpublished during Liszt's lifetime, and eventually appeared in print, edited by Siloti, in 1911, the centenary of the Liszt's birth. This edition was largely ignored in the succeeding century, under the erroneous belief that the revisions were Siloti's own")

Zarzycki, Aleksander (1834-95) Poland
§Concerto in A-flat, Op. 17 (Most sources attribute just one concerto to Zarzycki; however, recent research suggests that the concerto composed 1859-60 and premiered in Paris in 1860 was the composer's first in e minor [lost?], consisting of three movements [Allegro energico; Adagio; Presto], whereas the present work, performed in Warsaw in 1880 and published the same year, is actually his second concerto, in two movements [an Andante in A-flat and Allegro non troppo in f]. See W. Muras's 2022 article "Koncerty na fortepian Aleksandra Zarzyckiego. Nowe fakty w świetle źródeł," Muzyka, 67 (4), 137–147; <https://www.researchgate.net/publication/369788535>)
