LETTER FROM THE ASSOCIATE CHANCELLOR AND CHIEF DIVERSITY OFFICER

The Office of Institutional Diversity and Inclusion has been working diligently this past year with many on campus to make diversity and inclusion a reality for every student, faculty, and staff member. We have provided programming and events to enrich the campus community, and created spaces for dialogue and discussion during these ever-changing times.

Our most intensive efforts have been in the completion of the new 7-year SIUE Diversity and Inclusion Strategic Plan that will be in effect from 2018-2025, which we are proud to present in this report. This new Plan is the culmination of many conferences, summits, and discussions, and we believe it will help us to be more inclusive here at SIUE.

This annual report highlights some of our 2017-2018 accomplishments, as well as numerous campus-wide efforts, but it is by no means an exhaustive list. Championing diversity and inclusion is something we must all strive for daily, and we acknowledge and thank those who make SIUE the vibrant, diverse campus it is today.

For more information on diversity and inclusion at SIUE, go to: http://www.siue.edu/diversity.

I hope you enjoy reading this report and that you find ways to get involved with diversity and inclusion at SIUE.

Venessa A. Brown, MSW, Ph.D.
Associate Chancellor and Chief Diversity Officer
Campus Ethics Representative
Professor of Social Work
Southern Illinois University Edwardsville
Friends,

Diversity is a foundational element of our campus culture at SIUE and so we are excited to bring you the first annual Diversity Report summarizing and highlighting so many of our university activities pertaining to Diversity in 2017-18.

In the report, I think you will be impressed not only with the quantity and significance of the initiatives but also with the wide array of individuals and departments involved in creating Diversity programming. Our commitment is on display. That commitment is also underscored by our vision for the future as outlined in the Diversity and Inclusion Strategic Plan. I wish to express my sincere gratitude to the University Diversity Council members who worked diligently on that document in the last year. It is a valuable resource as we imagine our future.

As you will see, the report indicates the wide array of elements and activities that contribute to Diversity at SIUE—elements ranging from music to food to field trips, from lectures and courses to enrollment activities and town halls. I know you will enjoy reviewing all of the various activities.

If you have questions about anything described or have suggestions about how to make our Diversity environment even more robust, please do not hesitate in contacting me or Dr. Venessa Brown, Associate Chancellor for Institutional Diversity and Inclusion.

Thanks and congratulations to all who have worked so hard to create a positive and supportive environment at SIUE. We look forward to even more dynamic elements in the future.

Sincerely,

Randall G. Pembrook, Chancellor
SIUE
Office of Institutional Diversity and Inclusion Accomplishments

The Office of Institutional Diversity and Inclusion is responsible for promoting a diverse and inclusive campus culture, and strives to do so through programs, events, conferences, discussions, trainings, and resources available to the campus community. As an institution-wide office, our goal is to see our work inform all areas of SIUE.
The Office of Institutional Diversity and Inclusion (IDI) is responsible for providing institutional leadership by facilitating, creating and sustaining a campus climate that embraces and promotes diversity and inclusion in their broadest meanings. This leadership requires establishing priorities, policies and programs that support our mission as a leading public master’s university.

IDI works with the administrative leadership team of the university to ensure that we recruit, develop, retain and engage a diverse group of students, faculty and staff with differing backgrounds, perspectives, interests and talents who will contribute to our mission and vision and live our values.

The Office of Institutional Diversity and Inclusion also works with campus leaders to ensure our core values of diversity, equity and inclusion are embedded in equal opportunity and non-discrimination practices. A strong partnership with all units on campus ensures we have campus-wide support for carrying out our institutional diversity and inclusion goals.

MISSION

The Office of Institutional Diversity and Inclusion will facilitate a campus climate where we embrace, appreciate, support and celebrate the diversity among the faculty, staff and students at Southern Illinois University Edwardsville.

VISION

The Office of Institutional Diversity and Inclusion will be Southern Illinois University Edwardsville’s leader in advancing a culture of inclusive excellence that will be exemplified by:

- Creating a learning environment that supports a diverse and inclusive culture.
- Inspiring mutual respect among all members in its community.
- Committing to academic excellence in an open and harmonious campus environment.
- Recruiting individuals with diverse backgrounds, varying perspectives, and encouraging intellectual pursuits.
Programs, Events & Updates

The Office of Institutional Diversity and Inclusion’s programs and events aim to foster learning, mutual respect, generative dialogue, and cross-campus collaboration. This academic year, these aims have been pursued through numerous initiatives and events. In this section we highlight these efforts to reflect on this year’s accomplishments and our continued work to facilitate a campus climate where we embrace, appreciate, support and celebrate diversity.

OPEN CAMPUS COMMUNITY CONVERSATIONS

Students, faculty, staff and community gathered for four community conversations:

- Civil and Respectful Communication, Discourse & Debate: Learning how to talk to each other!
- What is Affirmative Action and What Should I Know?
- Why is the Historical Monument Conversation Important?
- Movement Building through LGBTQIA Zine-making

The first conversation explored how to have respectful classroom and workplace communication around tough topics related to politics, racial and ethnic identity, and differing views. The second conversation centered on Affirmative Action in higher education. Participants discussed whether or not affirmative action policies adequately compensate for centuries of racial, social, and economic oppression in our current context. For the third conversation, professors Katie Poole-Jones, Erik Alexander, and Jeff Manuel gave an enriching presentation that asked the question, “Why is the Historical Monument Conversation Important?” Attendees discussed how the ideas of the Lost Cause influence monument symbolism, as well as what should be done with our country’s Confederate monuments and memorials that are now viewed as problematic. The fourth conversation provided participants with the opportunity to make a zine, an art based booklet that provides education and disseminates information from the perspective of the creator.
BOOK CLUB
The Fall Book Club read Speak Right On: Conjuring the Slave Narrative of Dred Scott, a book that is one-fourth biography and three-fourths fiction. Author Mary Neighbour visited the book club and discussed the historical depth behind the Dred Scott case.

HISPANIC HERITAGE CELEBRATION
Hispanic Student Union, Gamma Phi Omega, and Alpha Psi Lambda shared food, dancing, and friendship with the campus community.

NATIONAL DAY OF ENCOURAGEMENT
A positive impact in our campus community was made through celebrating this day dedicated to uplifting the people around us.

INTERNATIONAL DAY OF PEACE
Observed around the world, the International Day of Peace provided a platform for students to make pinwheels expressing their vision for a peaceful campus.
ITALIAN, POLISH, AND GERMAN AMERICAN HERITAGE
International students taught passersby Italian, Polish, and German phrases, geography, and history.

CELEBRATING NATIONAL COMING OUT DAY
Students celebrated National Coming Out Day and the 29th anniversary of the National March on Washington for LGBTQIA Rights.

INTERNATIONAL DAY FOR THE ERADICATION OF POVERTY
In partnership with the Alliance for Students Against Poverty, the campus community was educated about poverty worldwide and in the Metro-East region.

UNITED NATIONS DAY
Students learned about the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and how the UN impacts the world today, as well as the reasons why SIUE flies the United Nations flag.

NATIONAL DISABILITY EMPLOYMENT AWARENESS MONTH
An interactive display board raised awareness about disability support services available at SIUE.
FALL CONFERENCE:
RACE DYNAMICS & RACISM ON TODAY’S CAMPUS

Approximately 200 attendees gathered to do an institutional review in reference to the national climate, changing demographics in the country and across college campuses, and address recent racial incidents on the SIUE campus that go against the University’s values.

In Chancellor Pembrook’s welcome address to conference participants, he stated, “I read in The Chronicle of Higher Education that they reported 120 events of racial incidents across the country in the last quarter... This is a particularly important time to be having this conversation on race and racism on campus.” Pembrook continued, “It is important that we stand up against racism and hate. We want to talk about policies and procedures, evaluate what we’ve done in the past few years, look at where we are making progress, and examine the areas where we still have work to do.”

Chief Diversity Officer Dr. Venessa Brown challenged attendees to listen to each other and ask themselves the questions, “What do I need to learn to be a part of the change? What role do I play in ensuring institutional change here at SIUE?”

Conference highlights included Kenith Bergeron from the Midwest Regional Office of the U.S. Department of Justice; Dr. Jerrica Ampadu and Megan Robb’s report on “The Changing Demographics in Higher Education”; Terra Cole Brown and Dr. Jessica Harris’ discussion of the Multicultural Organization Development scale; and various additional champions for diversity and inclusion on campus.

Terrell Jones, graduate assistant in University Housing, offered, “I enjoyed the conference because we were able to have an open dialogue about racial tension on our campus, so we can find definitive outlets and solutions for improving the situation.”
HALLOWEEN FEST
Students celebrated the beginning of Día de los Muertos by decorating masks, enjoying traditional candy and sharing stories about family traditions.

NATIVE AMERICAN & ALASKA NATIVE HERITAGE MONTH
Information was shared from the Cahokia Mounds State Historic Site that is located just twelve miles from campus.

MIDDLE EASTERN CULTURAL AWARENESS
Students shared Middle Eastern culture, food, dress, dabke dance moves, and friendship.

TRANSGENDER DAY OF REMEMBRANCE

WEBINAR: MICROAGGRESSIONS, EQUITY & INCLUSION: LESSEN THE RACIAL DIVIDE TO CREATE AN INCLUSIVE CAMPUS CULTURE

Naomi Sigg, the Director of Multicultural Affairs at Case Western Reserve University, led a webinar aimed at equipping 42 campus faculty, staff, administrators and students to recognize campus dynamics, solicit student experiences, and implement strategies to lessen the racial divide and foster an inclusive culture that addresses microaggressions from the bottom up.

The webinar covered the following topic areas:

- Combating and addressing on-going debate of political correctness that stifles progress and spreads frustration
- Identifying and understanding microaggressions when they occur and the negative impact they have on your community
- Using dialogue and other tools to prevent exclusionary behaviors, policies, and structures
- Teaching students critical civic and communication skills they will take with them into their professional lives and implementing best practices from other campuses
In April, the Office of Institutional Diversity and Inclusion hosted its fourth annual Phenomenal Women’s Luncheon. Out of the 69 women nominated from SIUE and the surrounding community, 17 were chosen to receive the 2018 Phenomenal Woman award, which honors and celebrates women from all walks of life who have made contributions to diversity and inclusion at SIUE, the region, the nation, and the world. Awardees shared words of encouragement with one another as integral leaders at SIUE.

“We often think about a phenomenal woman as someone who has achieved big things, which of course needs to be celebrated,” said Dr. Suman Mishra, “but I think a phenomenal woman [is one] who pushes boundaries and challenges norms in small ways to bring about positive changes in the lives of people around her.”

Award recipients include Rima Abusaid, Fannie Acoff, Lakesha Butler, Kimberly Carter, Jennifer Cline, Jennifer Harbaugh, Latavia Jo Harley, Efrosini “Effie” Hortis, Michelle Hudson, Husna Ibrahim, Suman Mishra, Tarsha Moore, Alison Reeves, Anne Runde, Elizabeth Stygar, Silvia Torres-Bowman, and Sandra Weissinger.
DIVERSITY AND INCLUSION STRATEGIC PLAN
SPRING SUMMIT

Approximately 150 participants reviewed the four goals and associated objectives and strategies of the new 7-year SIUE Diversity and Inclusion Strategic Plan:

- Enhance recruitment for students of underrepresented groups for both undergraduate and graduate programs, and improve retention and graduation rates for underrepresented groups attending SIUE.

- Increase and retain the number of faculty, staff and administrators from underrepresented groups.

- Build a community that fosters learning, scholarship, and creative activities that reflect understanding of global diversity and a commitment to inclusion and social justice.

- Develop and maintain a campus climate that acknowledges, embraces, and celebrates diversity and inclusion as a core value of the SIUE Community.

Chief Diversity Officer Dr. Venessa Brown stated, “I am pleased to lead the University in implementing the goals and objectives outlined in the Diversity and Inclusion Strategic Plan… Special thanks to the chancellor, the University Diversity Council, and the entire campus community for their contributions and ongoing commitment in moving us toward inclusive excellence.”

Another highlight was the introduction of a campus-wide online diversity training platform that was presented to attendees and evaluated. Discussion emerged on the theme of listening and responding to the lived experiences of those on campus. SIUE continues to work to address current experiences while planning strategically for a more inclusive future.
CREATE CHANGE

This spring, three interdisciplinary student-led events called CREATE CHANGE were organized in response to recent hate crimes at SIUE. Using creativity to foster conversations that celebrate our campus’ diversity and reinforce inclusion, platforms were created for students to join together using art, movement, and spoken word poetry to co-create a campus where all students flourish. Art therapy counseling graduate student Morgaine Denison said, “We wanted to do creative events that utilized [various] creative methods in an attempt to catch different audiences...I knew right away that we were onto something because I could feel it in the energy, like with how many people were willing to help. Every single person that we approached about [Create Change], or asked to partner with us, or asked for their assistance was so excited that we were doing this.”

Create Change became a place where people hurting from the hate crimes on campus found connection with one another and were able to find a sense of belonging and healing through their artwork and expression. Student Unhye Myong, of Seoul, South Korea, stated how Create Change helped her feel safe about voicing her opinion in an open space. Myong shared, “I don't really feel comfortable going to a discussion where professors talk in their microphones. I'm too introverted to talk on a microphone, but I would love to have more spaces like this that I can create art and talk about it,” Myong said. “This kind of event is very meaningful for me to create a safe space for me.” Gratitude extends to the students and professors of Art Therapy, Theater, Social Work, and to Counseling Services for contributing vision, time, and resources to creating a space where art is used to increase connection across campus.

CREATE CHANGE: Express Yourself was facilitated by Professor Shelly Goebl-Parker’s Multicultural Art Therapy class that invited students to use art to respond to the question, “What is it like to be you at SIUE?” This artwork began a visual dialogue that was continued throughout the events. During CREATE CHANGE: Theater for Change, Professor Kathryn Bentley led students through a movement exercise that asked them to embody isolation, exclusion, and the transition between the two. Discussion emerged on what steps can be taken to create trusting relationships on campus. At CREATE CHANGE: Poetic Justice, participants gathered in small groups and shared a story of a time they felt a sense of belonging, exclusion, or hope at SIUE. These stories were woven into poetry and shared at the mic along with students’ personal poems.
BLUE RIBBON CAMPAIGN

In partnership with the Childhood Advocacy Center, students engaged available resources and wore blue ribbons to raise awareness about child abuse and neglect.

MENTORING PROGRAMS

In collaboration with ACCESS (formerly Disability Support Services), the Faculty and Staff Mentoring Students with Disabilities Program was reinstated this year. The program seeks to enhance relationships, connect students to future occupational goals and promote self-advocacy. Additional mentoring programs include Men’s Basketball, Women’s Basketball and Softball. These programs provide networking opportunities, proactive support, and one-on-one interpersonal involvement.

ONLINE LEARNING COMMUNITY

Our Online Learning Community continues to grow and be an avenue for discussions, trainings, and various resources for our campus. This year, the Online Learning Community was promoted in seven classes to expand engagement. Participants contributed to discussion forums that enabled resource sharing, engagement with current events, and efforts to improve campus climate.
EDUCATIONAL CULTURE TOUR:
BROOKLYN, IL AND ALTON, IL

The second annual Educational Culture Tour took students, faculty, and staff to nearby Brooklyn/Lovejoy, IL—the oldest black incorporated town in America—and Alton, IL to explore the relationship between SIUE, Lovejoy Library, abolitionist Elijah P. Lovejoy, and the historic Brooklyn/Lovejoy area.

The tour was led by the Office of Institutional Diversity and Inclusion. Tour guide Associate Professor Prince Wells talked about his life growing up in Brooklyn/Lovejoy, IL. Participants learned about the close connection between community members in the town established in the 1820s. In addition, Mayor Vera Glasper took the group to point out significant places, including church tours of Quinn Chapel, a known hub of activities advocating abolition and aiding travelers seeking freedom. Then, participants toured Antioch Baptist Church where they were educated by community members about its history.

Coordinator of the trip, Graduate Assistant for the Office of Institutional Diversity and Inclusion Tameka Dunson, discussed the significance between Elijah P. Lovejoy and SIUE while embarking toward the monument dedicated to him in Alton, IL. At the monument, participants read about Lovejoy’s life promoting abolition, and his eventual death defending his printing press.
Accomplishments of the Office of Institutional Diversity and Inclusion

The work of a Chief Diversity Officer is vast and far-reaching, in much the same way that diversity and inclusion span the breadth of our lives. Here we highlight Dr. Venessa A. Brown, Associate Chancellor and Chief Diversity Officer, and examples of her tireless efforts on behalf of SIUE and the surrounding community.

RECENT ACCOMPLISHMENTS

- SIUE’s Brown Appointed to IBHE’s Diversifying Higher Education Faculty in Illinois Board
  “As a recently selected member of the Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE) Diversifying Higher Education Faculty in Illinois (DFI) board, Venessa A. Brown, PhD, associate chancellor for the Office of Institutional Diversity and Inclusion, and chief diversity officer at Southern Illinois University Edwardsville, will work to improve minority representation at colleges and universities in the state…”

- SIUE’s Brown Offers an Encouraging View of Cuba in New Book
  “A trip to Cuba enthralled Brown so much that when she returned home, she documented her perspectives and experiences in A Promising Reality: Reflections on Race, Gender and Culture in Cuba. The book, co-edited by Brown and Menah Pratt-Clarke, was published in January…”

IDI Updates

Change is on the horizon as the SIUE Multicultural Center transitioned from the Office of Institutional Diversity and Inclusion over to Student Affairs, effective May 2018. The plan is for Student Affairs to move and expand the current Multicultural Center to Room A in the MUC in Summer 2018, which will then be renamed The Center for Student Diversity and Inclusion. In June 2018, SIUE hired Dr. Timothy Staples, an SIUE alum, as the inaugural director of the Center for Student Diversity and Inclusion.

Dr. Staples brings over 19 years of experience to this position, and his first day is scheduled for July 16.

The Office of Institutional Diversity and Inclusion was proud to operate the inaugural Multicultural Center since its ribbon cutting ceremony in 2014, and wishes Student Affairs the very best with the new Center for Student Diversity and Inclusion.

Please take a moment to stop by our updated website, where you can find all editions of our Embracing Diversity and Inclusion newsletter, trainings and media available for checkout by faculty and staff, photos and information from our Educational Culture Tours, and much more!

SUSTAINED DIALOGUE

The Sustained Dialogue mini-conference on March 30th provided an overview of the Sustained Dialogue pilot at SIUE and its impact. Sustained dialogue (SD) is a public peace process, conceptualized by US diplomat Hal Saunders in the 1980s and adapted by Princeton students in 1999. SIUE is the only public university in the state of Illinois in the campus network and one of the 62 campuses who practice SD worldwide.

Goals

Build relationships in the room and address concrete community issues outside of the room.

Structure

Each group includes 8-15 participants who conduct dialogues lasting at least an hour that continue where the last dialogue ended.

Findings

At the completion of 8 weeks, 69% of students completed the post survey that led to the following findings as a result of their involvement in SD:

- 92% of participants agreed that they think critically about the experiences of others and how they can be improved
- 78% of participants shared they “tried to better understand someone else's views by imagining how an issue looks from their perspective”
- 81% of participants shared that they now have the “ability to contribute to the wellbeing of their community”
- 89% of participants shared that they “learned something that changed the way they understand an issue or concept”
- 85% of participants shared they “feel comfortable talking about their experiences and identities in front of a group of their peers”
- 83% of participants agreed that “their college was welcoming to all students”

Next Steps

Implement 3 to 4 action plans during the fall 2018 semester and offer Sustained Dialogue group sessions during the spring 2019 semester.
BIWEEKLY DIALOGUES

Twelve biweekly dialogues sponsored by the Provost Office and Student Affairs were held to create space in which students, faculty, and staff could openly and safely participate in discussions related to campus climate for black students, as well as broader issues of intersectionality, community, equity, and justice. These sessions provided a regular and routine mechanism for sustained discussions around the work to be done on campus. Some of the topics discussed included advocacy and inclusion for black male students, hiring more black faculty, retention, effective university communication, proactive responses to build an inclusive campus climate, increasing student involvement, support for culturally based organizations, peer mentoring for minority students, and how to effectively prepare minority students for college. Senior leaders worked to attend, listen, share and use this information to improve our campus. Each session lasted an hour and a half and emphasized our collective responsibility to build a sustainable campus environment.
SAFE ZONE

Safe Zone’s mission at SIUE is to develop a campus community of allies and provide support to lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender (LGBT) students, faculty, and staff with the ultimate goal of developing SIUE as a safe and welcoming place for LGBT people.

St. Louis Pride

Over 35 SIUE faculty, staff, students, and alumni contributed to St. Louis’ 38th annual PrideFest activities on June 25, 2017. This was the fourth consecutive year Safe Zone was a part of the annual PrideFest Grand Parade.

Community and Ally Welcome Reception

On August 29, the Safe Zone/LGBT Community and Ally Welcome Reception was held in the Morris University Center. The collective accomplishments of Safe Zone and its allies were shared, along with plans for the year.

Coming Out Week

Coming out week October 9-13 was facilitated by the Gay Straight Alliance and highlighted coming out as an everyday thing, coming out as Christian and gay, faculty/staff safe space training, coming out as bi/pan, trans stories, balloon let off for trans suicides on college campuses, dare day, and a student safe space training.

Rainbow Graduation Celebration

The 4th Semi-Annual Rainbow Graduation Celebration was held April 25. Recipients of the first Safe Zone Scholarship, Clarence Czachor and Kay Guyer, offered words to the group centered on personal experience, resilience, and student achievement. The celebration highlighted student achievement.
ACCESSIBLE CAMPUS COMMUNITY & EQUITABLE STUDENT SUPPORT (ACCESS)

According to ACCESS (formerly Disability Support Services) Director Dominic Dorsey, national statistics support that roughly 11% percent of undergraduate students identify as having some form of diagnosis or disability, while only 3% report their disability to their institutions. The total number of registered undergraduate and graduate students with ACCESS at SIUE is 615, or about 4%. The 45 students who completed the year-end survey reported the following information:

- Genderqueer
- Trans masculine
- Male
- Male
- Woman

ACCESS scheduled, proctored, and monitored 3,704 exams in 2017-18

Of the 1,692 exams in Spring 2018:

- 49 exams approved for READER ACCOMMODATION
- 31 exams used a READER PEN ACCOMMODATION
- 38 exams were on blackboard and TAKEN IN OUR OFFICE
- 35 exams used a SCRIBE

The event's keynote speaker was Ambassador Anwarul K. Chowdhury, a career diplomat with the United Nations and an inspirational champion for sustainable peace and development. International Studies Day also featured informational booths on SIUE departments and programs, student organizations, and the Office of International Affairs, along with the International Institute of St. Louis, European Studies Center at the University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign, the Institute for International Education and the Peace Corps.

SIUE STEM CENTER PARTNERS WITH COMMUNITY

In partnership with the Mannie Jackson Center for the Humanities and the Madison County Housing Authority, the Southern Illinois University Edwardsville Center for STEM Research, Education and Outreach is providing an interactive after-school urban gardening program. Approximately 60 young girls throughout Alton, Collinsville, Madison and Venice solved problems by experiencing hands-on, science-based urban gardening techniques, while learning the value of science, technology, engineering and mathematics. For instance, students learned about composting and hydroponics, as well as getting the chance to beautify their communities and create a sustainable food source.

“Learning about the environment is a good pleasure,” said Malia King, an 8th grade student from Venice. “I always try to do whatever I can to help any plant or person.”
KATHERINE DUNHAM EXHIBIT OPENED AT SIUE AND THE EAST ST. LOUIS CAMPUS

2017 marked the 50th anniversary of the Performing Arts Training Center (PATC), a unit of SIUE that internationally famous Katherine Dunham founded and directed. The exhibit, “Katherine Dunham: A Life of Dance, Activism and Anthropology” was hosted in Lovejoy Library from September 21st through Oct. 23rd. The exhibit traced Dunham’s early influences at the University of Chicago, East St. Louis, and beyond. For 20 years she toured the world performing dances based on research of African diaspora cultures. In 1967, Dunham settled in East St. Louis, where she launched a second career as an educator and activist. Dunham’s work with PATC completed her life’s work and earned her a hard won place in academia. From 1983 onwards, she received numerous honorary doctorates and prestigious awards. The opening reception included a presentation from Theo Jamison, Dunham master instructor and program director of the East St. Louis Performing Arts Training Center. The exhibit opening on the East St. Louis campus included a dance by Heather Himes, Dunham Dance instructor.

DENIM DAY
On April 25th, SIUE participated in the Denim Day campaign which grew out of an Italian Supreme Court ruling, where a rape conviction was overturned. Justices believed that because the victim was wearing tight jeans, she must have helped her rapist remove them, thereby implying consent. Those attending Denim Day wore jeans in solidarity.

SIUE PARTNERS WITH UNIVERSITY OF COSTA RICA; COMPLETES SERVICE AND EDUCATIONAL ACTIVITIES

Southern Illinois University Edwardsville has reached an academic partnership agreement with the University of Costa Rica (UCR). The new five-year partnership with UCR, coupled with the current faculty-led travel study programs through Central American Mission Programs (CAMP), provide new opportunities for collaborative engagement in fields like pharmacy, dental medicine, nursing and public health, among others. “Development of international partnerships allows SIUE to enhance teaching, research and student learning opportunities to shape a changing world,” said Mary Weishaar, SIUE executive director of international affairs.

During Spring Break 2018, a group of more than 30 students, faculty and staff from SIUE’s Schools of Nursing, Pharmacy, and Education, Health and Human Behavior upheld the University’s mission, arriving in Costa Rica on Saturday, March 3 for a week of service and educational activities.

Highlights of the trip included School of Pharmacy students studying medicinal plants, School of Nursing students assessing community children, and Public Health students clearing a beach for sea turtle nesting. Along with providing clinical assistance, School of Nursing students delivered shoes and backpacks and helped with home renovations.

“For many of the students, it showed them that they are capable of more than they might have thought possible,” said Michelle Cathorall, DrPH, assistant professor of public health in the SEHHB Department of Applied Health. “This trip pushed them mentally, and especially physically, and they never gave up or said they couldn’t do it.”

“These trips provide a special combination of opportunities for service to mankind through valuable hands-on experiences, all while experiencing growth in cultural awareness,” Chancellor Randall Pembrook said. Another outcome from the trip was a signed memorandum of understanding (MOU) with the University of Costa Rica that will provide opportunities for future exchanges, involving students, faculty and research projects.”
Dr. Cornel West visited SIUE’s Higher Education Campus in East St. Louis on May 17, 2018 for West Fest on the theme, “Honoring Malcom X ‘Black Shining Prince’ & Questing for Peace, Economic/Social Justice & Conch-Us-Nest in East Saint Love & Other ‘Soular Systems’.” As a philosopher, theologian, author, activist, and Harvard University Professor, Dr. Cornel West called on people to continue in the tradition of the great African Americans who fought for justice and equality by becoming “love warriors.” This year's West Fest addressed economic and social justice, better ways to involve and empower young people, the strategic roles of literature, song and cultural arts in community cohesion, and honored Malcolm X, Miles Davis, Henry Dumas and Katherine Dunham.

“I'm so blessed to come to East St. Louis,” said West. “East St. Louis is such a distinct and singular place in the history of the struggle for freedom.” Throughout the conference, West talked about the problematic political and social climate African Americans experience. “We are trying to keep alive one of the greatest traditions in the modern world,” said West during the luncheon, “— the quest for black dignity and sanity in a white supremacist civilization.”

Speaking to the future of the struggle, West stated, “The younger generation has to keep the love tradition alive. The older generation can’t be who we are without young people stepping in. We do not want the entire struggle to have been in vain. The price that has been paid is a whole lot of blood, sweat, tears, bodies hanging from trees, and people dishonored and devalued.

“It is not enough to be smart,” West instructed the young people at the conference, wisdom has to be the key. “Let the phone be smart. We've got to be wise,” West said. “You've got to use your body, connected with your mind, your soul and your heart. We have to be courageous.”
BLACK GRADUATION CELEBRATION

LATINX GRADUATION CELEBRATION

INTERNATIONAL GRADUATION CELEBRATION

RAINBOW GRADUATION CELEBRATION

NON-TRADITIONAL GRADUATION CELEBRATION
The most fundamental element of the College of Arts and Sciences’ support of diversity and inclusion at SIUE lies in the curriculum. A review of the courses we offer, and their descriptions, makes this abundantly clear. By way of illustration, faculty who were approved for either tenure or promotion this year include the following in their teaching or scholarly interests: the political voices of Muslim-Americans; the epistemic insecurity experienced by women of color; the philosophy of race; Islamic thought; world regions; the politics of development; international relations; the international political economy; the politics of the Middle East; new forms of violence on the international stage; addiction and recovery; racial disparities in the child welfare system; Black Lives Matter; the sociology of disasters; African-American communities; everyday justice; health issues among St. Louis immigrant populations; the politics of gun control; political scandals in American government and politics; leadership and civic activism; the good citizen; women and the presidency. These teaching and scholarly foci are a microcosm of the foundation for institutional diversity and inclusion efforts that the College provides.

Enhanced curricular support for diversity and inclusion comes through the 14 interdisciplinary minors that are housed in, and supported by the College and our faculty. These are: African Studies, Asian Studies, Black Studies, Classical Studies, Digital Humanities and Social Sciences, European Studies, Latin American Studies, Native American Studies, Peace and International Studies, Pre-Law, Religious Studies, Urban Studies, and Women’s Studies. In addition, our new major in International Studies is graduating its first majors. Three of these interdisciplinary minors (Black Studies, Pre-Law, and Women's Studies) receive significant budgetary support from the College to hold events that enrich the climate of SIUE.

The College of Arts and Sciences also used discretionary funding through their targeted Funding Initiative for multiple projects in support of diversity and inclusion. These included an East St. Louis Charter High School Creative Writing Club; an SIUE East St. Louis Center Community Alliance “SACK” Lunch and Learn Series; musical education opportunities through the East St. Louis Center for the Performing Arts; a Black Theatre Workshop 8-week Sankofa residency at the Charter School and on campus; and “Birdman Rising: Conversations beyond Colonialism” exhibit by photographer and curator Jeff Thomas from the Onondaga Nation.

In addition, our fine and performing arts programs and faculty continue to offer programming that is integral to our climate that promotes diversity and inclusion. The performances and exhibits are enhanced by the speakers and performers that come to campus through the Arts and Issues series. In 2017-18 these included: Sidra Bell Dance New York, a group rapidly gaining an international reputation for work that reveals aspects of the human condition through a distinctly female lens; Joanne Shenandoah, one of “America’s most celebrated and critically acclaimed Native American musicians of her time”; Dr. Guion “Guy” Bluford Jr. (Colonel, USAF, Ret.), the first African American to fly in space. He was the first African American to be awarded NASA’s coveted Astronaut Pin and the U.S. Air Force’s Command Pilot Astronaut Wings.

Our ability to offer such robust support for diversity and inclusion has our diverse faculty at its heart:

By Fall 2017, CAS was the academic home of 62 faculty members from 33 countries

88% Of our tenure line faculty are female
During the current fiscal year we celebrated the contributions our international faculty make by holding a reception/open house in October. In addition to hiring faculty through long established procedures, we also took advantage of the Chancellor’s funding of the Strategic Hiring Initiative and now have 5 faculty who joined us through this initiative.

In concert with our curriculum that supports diversity and inclusion delivered by a diverse faculty, we celebrate the achievements of students with majors in the College. The latest data available (2018 Factbook) indicate that in Fall 2017, 6,753 students were enrolled in CAS programs. Of that number over 55% were female, and 68.4% were identified as White, non-Hispanic. We continue to offer targeted mentoring and support to African-American students through the FAME and GAME programs.

The College is also involved nationally in important educational equity work focused on diversity and inclusion by partnering with Dr. Robert Moses and his organization, the Algebra Project. The NSF program called INCLUDES (Inclusion across the Nation of Communities of Learners of Underrepresented Discoverers in Engineering and Science), has awarded two grants to the Algebra Project to address this problem. As co-PI on the grants with Dr. Moses, Dean Greg Budzban is working to broaden participation in STEM education and workforce preparation nationally by building a national alliance of organizations committed to educational equity in STEM education.

With its roots in the collective action strategies used by the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) in the Mississippi Theatre of the Civil Rights movement, the Algebra Project has been using a particular version of collective action that is “bottom up.” In a collaboration with the College of Arts and Sciences at SIUE, the Algebra Project submitted an NSF INCLUDES Alliance grant focused on the goal of enabling students now performing in the bottom quartile (on state tests) to graduate from high school on time with math proficiency necessary to take college math courses for college credit, and such that math is not an obstacle to a choice of career. Should the grant be funded, SIUE will act as the Communications Hub of this emerging national alliance.
Our annual CAS Honors Day recognizes students who have excelled in their programs. On April 15th, 2018 approximately 244 students from 22 departments and programs, received nearly 300 awards and scholarships. Exemplifying our top students, Tanadja Barber (pictured below with Dean Greg Budzban) delivered her address to over 700 attendees. Representative of the students receiving awards are these groups from Chemistry, Music, Social Work, and the Colbert Award in Theater and Dance.

The College continues its plans to contribute to the diversity and inclusiveness of our institution. In 2017, the Dean, working with the CAS Congress, organized an ad hoc Diversity and Inclusion Committee to work with the Provost office around her idea of “equity coordinators” for the academic units. While the mandate of this committee ran out and it dispersed, Dean Budzban will be working with the CAS Congress to amend their operating paper to include a standing Diversity and Inclusion Committee, so this important work can continue.
The alumni panel discusses “Life after SIUE: Stories of Successful Transition to Professional Life.”

School of Business

Alumni Panels

The School of Business Diversity and Inclusion Committee sponsored two alumni panel discussions this year for students. The first was on November 2nd and had more than 50 students in attendance. “Life after SIUE: Stories of Successful Transition to Professional Life” featured four alumni from a diverse set of backgrounds. The second was held April 12, again with four alumni from a range of backgrounds, speaking on the topic, “Working Across the Generations: Navigating a Multi-Generational Workplace.” It was attended by approximately 35 students. Both panels involved presentations and student questions and allowed time for networking between students and the alumni after the panel. Both were evaluated favorably by the student participants.

Power Breakfast

This year’s School of Business Executive Power Breakfast featured Betsy Hall Collins, BS ’07, Director of Global Public Policy at Walmart. She manages policy initiatives on Health & Wellness and Associate Benefits. As a member of the Global Public Policy team Betsy is responsible for setting legislative and regulatory strategy, political development, and reputation management for both Walmart and Sam’s Club at the federal, state, and local level. Betsy joined Walmart in 2014. Prior to joining Walmart, Betsy served as Director of Government Relations and External Affairs for Centene Corporation in South Carolina. She has also served as Legislative Assistant to United States Senator Richard Durbin in Illinois. She was a particularly effective, inspiring speaker for our students because she sat where they were sitting a little more than a decade ago. Students are invited to the event by a faculty member, and in addition to learning from the speaker, it allows deeper relationships to form.

Each semester as part of our graduation requirements, students attend an Etiquette Dinner. Dozens of alumni, business leaders and faculty serve as table hosts and mentors at these events.

The committee plans to continue the panel discussions and to add in workshop experiences next year on a range of inclusion topics. In November 2017, on behalf of the School of Business, Laura Wolff, Chair of the School of Business Diversity and Inclusion Committee, attended the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business Diversity Summit in March 2018. Additionally, she attended a three day event for School of Business Diversity and Inclusion officers sponsored by the Southeastern Conference. Both offered chances for networking and for learning best practices being pursued by peers, and have been helpful in developing future plans.
Global Trade Representatives “Discover Southwest Illinois” with Stop at SIUE

The International Trade Center (ITC) at Southern Illinois University Edwardsville welcomed consuls and trade commissioners of the Chicago International Trade Commissioners’ Association (CITCA) for a luncheon and special introduction to the economically flourishing development hot spot that is southwestern Illinois. The visit to SIUE was the welcoming stop along the “Discover Southwest Illinois” tour held May 15-16 hosted by the Southwest Illinois Trade and Investment Council (SWITIC) in cooperation with the ITC at SIUE, the SIUE School of Business, the Illinois Office of Trade and Investment, and numerous regional leaders. Eleven represented countries included the Philippines, Ecuador, China, Italy, Spain, Ukraine, Bulgaria, Argentina, Chile, Czech Republic and Belgium-Flanders.

“It is a pleasure to have you here as we recognize the positive global impact of our University and understand the impact the world has on SIUE,” Chancellor Randy Pembrook told the tour attendees. “One of our University’s main values is diversity and inclusion. Last year, we welcomed approximately 400 students representing 58 different countries. I believe strongly in international travel which provides cultural experiences that broaden our perspectives and strengthen our understanding of the world.”

Tour participants were educated on SIUE’s significant contributions to the growth and vitality of the area. Key economic power zones around the area were highlighted. It was noted that SIUE’s School of Business is among the elite five percent of business schools worldwide that have earned the prestigious accreditation from the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB International).
SIU School of Dental Medicine (SDM) is dedicated to serve a diverse community that recognizes the inherent worth and dignity of each individual. Our goal is to foster tolerance, sensitivity, understanding, and mutual respect among its members, while encouraging each individual to reach their potential.

Recognizing the value of increasing the diversity in our student body, and considering the low number of minority students who apply to the Southern Illinois University Edwardsville Professional Healthcare programs, we offer a 1-week summer camp for high schoolers with an interest in pursuing a degree in healthcare. The aim of the summer camp is to expose students to careers in healthcare offered at SIUE. At the camp, students were exposed to Pharmacy, Nursing, and Dental Medicine.

Admissions and Recruitment

- Dr. Cornell Thomas, Assistant Dean for Admissions and Student Services, participated in both SIUE Preview Days to recruit applicants to the SDM
- Dr. Thomas made presentations at Harris Stowe State University in St. Louis, a historically black university
- Dr. Thomas presented at the Med Prep course at SIUC
- Dr. Thomas presented at Jennings High School as part of Big Brothers Big Sisters
- All URM applicants to the SDM are contacted personally in order to nurture them through the application process and enhance a sense of welcome to those applicants and to increase the likelihood that they would choose SIU SDM if offered admission
- The SDM Policy on Diversity is stated on the application home page of our website

Afro-Academic, Cultural, Technological, Scientific Olympics program

34 students as part of the ACT-SO program received mentorship from SIUE faculty, staff, and students. Known as the “Olympics of the Mind,” ACT-SO is a yearlong program designed to recruit, stimulate and encourage high academic and cultural achievement among African American high school students. Its mission includes:

- Mobilizing the adult community for the promotion of academic and artistic excellence
- Recognizing creative talent and academic achievement
- Providing students with the necessary skills to establish goals, and acquire the confidence and training to make a successful contribution to society

Faculty volunteers embodied the University’s core values of diversity and inclusion, and emphasized how mentorship and community engagement practices such as the ACT-SO program provide valuable recruitment opportunities.

“As director of SIUE’s Student Nurse Achievement Program (SNAP), I am dedicated to mentoring and recruiting minority and disadvantaged students who are interested in nursing,” said Jerrica Ampadu, RN, PhD, assistant professor in the School of Nursing. “The students who participated in the ACT-SO program were enthusiastic and curious about the nursing profession. Participating in this program reinforces the need to continuously engage high school students in intentional learning, as it improves student outcomes.”

Intersectionality and Sexual Harassment Talk

The School of Education, Health and Human Behavior's Diversity Committee brought Amy Hunter, director of racial justice for the Young Women's Christian Association of St. Louis, to campus March 28 to talk about sexual harassment and intersectionality.

In regard to the #MeToo movement, she emphasized how important it is to stand up and speak out, because that is what is changing our world. “People see the intersection between sexual harassment being the same kind of violence as racism, homophobia, islamophobia [or] anti-Semitism. That we are all connected through the ways in which violence impacts our lives and that part of our liberation is for us to all be free,” Hunter said.

According to Samantha Dickens, coordinator of the Prevention Education and Advocacy Center, these workshops are positive because they tackle difficult, yet important topics. “Having a mix of workshops like this with people like Amy who are experts in their fields and social justice activists is important, but it's a fraction of the kind of work we need to be doing on campus. Having casual, informal conversations, having interactive activities, large groups and small groups, all those kinds are important because your audience will be different for everything,” Dickens said.
“Introduce a Girl to Engineering Day” was organized by the Society of Women Engineers and held in the Engineering building at SIUE. Girls grades 5-8 completed activities covering the fields of civil, mechanical, electrical, industrial, and computer science to gain exposure to the field. Professional women engineers and SIUE students were on site providing support and guidance to program participants.

The Society of Women Engineers (SWE) at Southern Illinois University Edwardsville hosted more than 280 young girls during its sixth annual “Introduce a Girl to Engineering Day.”

Undergraduate minority and female enrollment increased from 2014 to present.
The School of Nursing Diversity Committee includes staff, faculty and students who work cooperatively to build upon the mission, vision and values of the School of Nursing. We believe a diverse community of students, faculty and staff will enrich our lives and create an environment that values and affirms individuals’ identities, backgrounds and points of view.

Unconscious Bias Trainings

The School of Pharmacy (SOP) Diversity and Inclusion (D&I) Committee led the offering of two Unconscious Bias training sessions in collaboration with the SOP Faculty Development Committee and the School of Nursing’s D&I committee. The 2-hour sessions (held in September 2017 and January 2018) were led by a regionally acclaimed Diversity Awareness Partnership (DAP) facilitator. Faculty and staff participants were exposed to current research on bias as well as best practices for mitigating bias.

“Through this [Unconscious Bias Training] workshop, the Schools of Pharmacy and Nursing decided to lead in reducing unconscious bias to create a better environment for our students, faculty, staff and patients.”

- Gireesh Gupchup, Dean of the SIUE School of Pharmacy
Thanksgiving Potluck

The School of Pharmacy celebrated the diversity of Thanksgiving traditions at our annual Thanksgiving Potluck hosted by our D&I committee and the Student National Pharmaceutical Association. More than 100 SOP students, staff and faculty gathered for a time of cultural appreciation through food and fellowship.

“Food is one way we can connect with each other,” said Hannah Seeger, Student National Pharmaceutical Association president and third-year pharmacy student. “We all come from different backgrounds, but one point that we can all find common ground on is food. It’s nice to get a glimpse of different cultures, which is something that serves a very important purpose in the healthcare field, because we are exposed to a variety of different individuals on a daily basis.”

Also during the months of February, March and April, social media posts and school-wide educational emails were sent to faculty, staff and students highlighting national cultural celebrations including Black History Month, Women’s History Month and Celebrate Diversity Month.

Healthcare Diversity Camp

The SIUE Healthcare Diversity camp was be held June 18-22 and expanded to include 40 high school participants from the St. Louis metropolitan region and additional areas in the state of Illinois with a goal to increase diversity among our student body.

Diversity and Inclusion Coordinator

A SOP Diversity and Inclusion Coordinator was newly appointed this fiscal year to provide leadership on matters of equity, diversity and inclusion at the school.

Students participate in the Cougar World Games.

Recreation

Cougar World Games is a special event designed to promote Diversity, Understanding, and Acceptance between groups with different cultures, backgrounds and ethnicities through participation in various recreational activities offered across the globe. As of Spring 2018, Campus Recreation just celebrated our 11th Annual Cougar World Games in which 147 participants attended!

49% of participants strongly agreed they learned something new about a sports/recreation activity from across the globe because of attending Cougar World Games. Students documented what they learned at CWG by filling out a postcard with information from the event which included: meeting someone new from a different country, trying a new recreational activity, and answering Cougar World Games global trivia facts. The interaction zone showcased international student, staff, and club sports athletes who shared sports and recreational activities from their home country.
Career Development Center

- Created the Cougar Career Closet to help all SIUE students have the appropriate professional attire items needed for networking events, career fairs, internships, and interviews. We hosted our first Cougar Career Closet giveaway event in spring 2017 and had 205 students attend. For our second event in fall 2017, student attendance at the event increased significantly to 325 students. We will be hosting our next professional attire giveaway event in September 2018.

Although the Cougar Career Closet has primarily done its professional attire giveaways to students only in a large event setting in the past, we are now working to provide a permanent space within the Career Development Center suite so all SIUE students will be able to access the professional attire closet on an as needed basis throughout the year.

- In collaboration with Counseling Services and ACCESS (formerly Disability Support Services), we have participated in the federal government’s Workforce Recruitment Program (WRP). The WRP program assists students/recent alumni with disabilities in obtaining internships or full-time employment within the federal government. Each year our number of student/recent alumni participants in this program has continued to grow, and in fall 2017, we had 12 students/recent alumni participate in the program. In support of this program, we hosted a federal employer panel for students with disabilities in spring 2017. We are currently in discussions with ACCESS to expand targeted employment-related workshop presentation offerings for students with disabilities beginning in fall 2018.

- Updated professional attire handouts and presentations to include gender inclusive language and gender inclusive picture illustrations. We have removed the language of “Men” and “Women” with regard to all of our professional attire handouts and presentations and have instead provided information about the general rules that apply to professional attire for all individuals regardless of gender identity.

Counseling Services

Counseling Services contributed to the following programs supporting diversity and inclusion:

- Brown Bag Discussion Series: Foundations of Cultural Competence with Dr. Boddie
- Fresh Check Day promoting destigmatization of ability differences and increasing access to healthcare
- The Clothesline Project and Send Silence Packing Event promoting women’s empowerment
- CREATE CHANGE events using creative modalities to increase connection on campus
Dining Services

- Coordinates with the local high school through a work study program for students on the Autism spectrum or have other special considerations.

- Coordinates with the International Student Association, the Indian Student Association, the African Student Association and the Iranian Student Association to put on several special events and dinners throughout the year. Each event is attended by 150-350 participants that include students, faculty, staff and community members.

- Coordinates with Kimmel to host 6-8 Taste of Culture events per year that are free to students and regularly attended by 150-200 people.

- Develops and prepares culturally specific menus based on the specific geographic region selected by Kimmel.

- Coordinates with the International Affairs office to help with the Orientation Reception and to provide tours and informational meetings to incoming and existing international students.

- Coordinates directly with the East St. Louis campus with their Head Start programs. Dining Services provides breakfast, snack, and lunch for an average of 1,000 children per day for this program. Dining Services works directly with members of the Head Start program to tailor menus to the wants and likes of the young children in the Head Start program.

- Currently coordinating with the Diversity Day committee to provide specialized dining that will represent various cultures throughout campus and help educate students on a variety of food traditions, histories, and cultural significance.

Early Childhood Center

The starting premise for anti-bias and social justice education is that children notice differences. These differences include skin color, gender, family structure, language and accent, body size, and physical ability. As children work to make sense of the differences they notice, our teachers work to provide guidance. At the Early Childhood Center (ECC), we are committed to intentionally and consistently engaging children in reflection about differences. We strive to collaborate closely with families in our anti-bias, social justice efforts.

Diversity exists in several areas at the ECC including economic, families whose second language is English, and a diversity of family structures including same sex parents and grandparents raising children.

We design our physical environment with attention to how it can support children's anti-bias learning. You will not see celebrations or curriculum designed around holidays. Instead, focus is placed on experiential learning and exploration. This is exemplified in our annual art exhibit in connection with the National Association for the Education of Young Children's (NAEYC) Week of the Young Child. The purpose of the Week of the Young Child™ is to focus attention on the needs of young children and their families, and to recognize the early childhood programs and services that meet those needs.
Health Service

Health Service staff presented several medical information sessions to incoming international students. Information about medical care, medical insurance, and immunization requirements were part of orientation activities for our new undergraduate, graduate, and dental international students. A similar program was presented to ESLi students. We reviewed their immunization records and arranged appointments that did not interfere with their class schedule for any additional immunization needs. Services offered by Counseling & Health Services were explained and students were given an opportunity to make a confidential appointment to discuss their country’s medical care as it relates to their needs. Providers are open to exploring their beliefs as it relates to their health care during their time at SIUE.

The Director wrote a letter of support as part of a grant proposal by the School of Nursing. The grant funding resulted in the School of Nursing Community Health Cohort program. This program is a class collaboration that allows accelerated BSN students to meet with Health Service and other campus units to develop community outreach efforts. Their outreach focus this year included HIV and PrEP education.

SOAR

The Fall 2017 FAME & GAME Orientation was successfully facilitated on Wednesday, August 16, 2017, in the Cougar Den, with an estimated 175-200 people in attendance. This number included incoming FAME and GAME students and their parents and former students volunteering for the event. Presentations were made by Dr. Howard Rambsy, Dr. Earleen Patterson, and Dr. Jeffrey Waple. Students also participated in team building activities led by Graduate Assistant Jordyn Hale and Practicum Student Yvonne Akinyi.

The educational overnight field trip to the National Underground Railroad Center in Cincinnati, OH took place October 13-14. Attendees included 47 FAME and GAME students as well as four SOAR employee chaperones. From the museum’s website: “Opened on the banks of the Ohio River in Cincinnati in 2004, the mission of the National Underground Railroad Freedom Center is to reveal stories of freedom’s heroes, from the era of the Underground Railroad to contemporary times, challenging and inspiring everyone to take courageous steps of freedom today. A history museum with more than 100,000 visitors annually, it serves to inspire modern abolition through connecting the lessons of the Underground Railroad with today’s freedom fighters. The center is also a convener of dialogue on freedom and human rights.” Retrieved from: http://www.freedomcenter.org/about-us. Upon returning, students who participated wrote essays about their individual experiences and learning outcomes as part of their class requirements.

Johnetta Haley Scholarship recipients who were to complete educational reading projects per the scholarship’s requirements picked up their reading materials on Tuesday, September 12, 2017. The two books that were utilized by scholars this semester were The 2015 Best American Science and Nature Writing, edited by Rebecca Skloot; and The 2016 Best American Science and Nature Writing, edited by Amy Stewart. The project required scholars to complete biweekly assigned readings, followed by thoughtful, scholarly critique of the text. These postings, found at http://www.culturalfront.org, create opportunities for participants to collaborate on the implementation of intellectual service work.
Southern Illinois University Edwardsville Professor Emeritus Johnetta Haley shared her life story on Wednesday, October 11, 2017, at the Lovejoy Library. The event, entitled “Sitting at the Feet of an Elder,” was part of SIUE’s first Black Playwright Festival and attended by over 60 members of the Johnetta Haley Scholarship Academy. The 94-year-old spoke about the importance of higher education and not shying away from hard work and hard times. The Scholarship Academy is named in her honor.

Over 60 SOAR students and 27 SOAR alumni were in attendance at the SOAR Networking Event held on Wednesday, November 8, 2017. Students had the opportunity to interact and engage with alumni who shared similar academic and career interests.

Housing

Sister Circle
- Sister Circle is a program designed to bring together women of color who live in our first year residence halls and connect them with upper class mentors.
- Over the course of the semester, the program meets four times and the attendance for each program averages between 20-35 students.

First Year Area Facilitated Programs
- Reel Talk - 5 movies were shown followed by a discussion about identity and intersectionality. Films included: Selma, Dear White People, It's Kind of a Funny Story, Wonder Woman, and The Lorax. 3-5 students attended each showing.
- Black HerStory Month - SDLI, highlighting African American women who have made significant contributions to our country. Combination of Black History and Women’s History months.
- Genderbread SDLI in each wing – Presented information about gender and sexual orientation identities.
- Crushing the Biases - A Bingo-esque facilitated program where residents answered questions regarding biases towards certain groups. If they answer 5 questions in a row, they got a Crush Soda. 27 residents attended.
A Scoop of Support - Residents visited different stations engaging forms of support. After completing a task, residents collected one item required to build an ice cream sundae. These tasks included bystander intervention around sexual assault, how to repair relationships after causing harm, how to support friends in distress, and how to support others in the future. 40 residents participated.

Painting with a Twist - Students painted cardboard puzzle pieces in a way that reflected their identities, strengths, and values. Residents partnered up and engaged in discussion about different identities, values, and strengths and how those identities and experiences have shaped their realities. 15 residents participated.

Get Comfy with your Identity - Students decorated patches of fabric with their identities. The patches were then glued together to form a quilt representing all of Bluff Hall and displayed in the lobby. 30 residents participated.

Who I Am - Residents interacted with mirrors painted with statements to reaffirm or challenge their identity, strengths, values, and potentially defy stereotypes about these features. Residents used window markers and crayons to write in their own identities and take photos with their identities which were then posted on a “gallery wall” bulletin board in the lobby to serve as a way for residents to see the diverse and unique identities represented in Prairie Hall. 30 residents attended.

Upper Class Area Facilitated Programs

- Get The Scoop On You - Residents engaged in a creative activity demonstrating how varying identities come with varying amounts of privilege. Some identities may be more visible than others and more recognized within ourselves. However, not recognizing an identity as a prevalent part of oneself can be viewed as a form of privilege in itself. Participants were educated about social inequalities associated with identity groups. 33 residents participated.

- Who Wants to be Diversified?! - A game that resembled Who Wants to be a Millionaire, but with diversity questions. 57 residents participated.

- Well Aren’t You Smooth(ie) - Educated residents of the importance of being globally aware citizens, and provided useful tools to help bridge the gaps between different identity groups. Students did some self-reflection on their own identities as well as discussed them in a group. 35 residents participated.

- Fair Trade Break – Staff handed out fair trade coffee and fair trade snacks. Residents were educated about what Fair Trade is and its impact. 50 residents participated.

Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs

During the 2017 - 2018 year, SIUE joined the Sustained Dialogue campus network and offered a program that created a safe space for students to share their experiences and critically reflect on community problems surrounding race, gender, sexual orientation, ability status, and more. This program included a curricular and co-curricular pilot that allowed 208 students to develop meaningful relationships and address concrete community issues. More than 80% of the participants shared that they learned something that changed the way that they understand an issue or concept as a result of their involvement in Sustained Dialogue. Students also developed action plans to address these community issues to create a more inclusive campus community.

Student Affairs also participated in the bi-weekly dialogues regarding race and to support critical conversations and understanding around issues of campus climate for black students, faculty and staff; social justice; and our collective responsibility to build a sustainable campus environment for all. Members of the Student Affairs team worked with Academic Affairs to co-facilitate some of the sessions offered during the spring 2018 semester in an effort to continue our commitment to diversity and inclusion at SIUE.

Bias Incident Response Team

After a series of bias related incidents on the SIUE campus, the university created the Bias Incident Response Team to respond to incidents and provide education to the campus community. The Bias Incident Response Protocol outlines an organized response to bias incidents that occur within the SIUE community involving students, faculty and staff, and introduces the Bias Incident Response Team (BIRT). The primary focus is to outline a set of responses that will provide assistance and support for individuals who are the victims of a bias incident. After considering feedback from faculty, staff and students, University Administration determined that a more rapid response was necessary for campus incidents involving bias. This is an additional step to underline the University's commitment to maintaining a safe, secure and inclusive campus environment for all.

A bias incident is defined as an act - either verbal, written, physical, non-verbal or psychological - that threatens or harms a person or group on the basis of actual or perceived race, religion, color, sex, age, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, ancestry, disability, marital status, civil union status, domestic partnership status, atypical heredity, or military service or veteran status.

Once the BIRT receives a report, a member of the team will respond to the victim or victims within 24 hours. A team member will seek additional information regarding the incident, provide support and resources, and schedule a time to meet with the victim. If the reported action did not violate the law or University policy, the BIRT will explore options for resolution and work with the individual to resolve the incident.

The BIRT is a group of University employees and students charged with responding to reported bias incidents, following the established protocols, supporting the victim or victims, and reporting and communicating information to the campus community and making recommendations to the Bias Prevention and Education Committee (BPEC). BPEC is comprised of representatives from throughout the University community. The representatives are responsible for reviewing information provided by the BIRT to identify and examine issues and trends affecting campus climate, and for making recommendations for educational programming and initiatives. For more information, visit siue.edu/birt.

Students, faculty and staff may report a bias incident by emailing biasresponse@siue.edu.

The Office of Undergraduate Admissions again continues to work towards fulfilling the vision of SIUE and carrying out the values of the institution. In particular, the Office of Undergraduate Admissions again has made great strides in promoting the value of Inclusion. As stated in the values:

Inclusion

- A welcoming and supportive environment
- Openness to the rich diversity of humankind in all aspects of university life
- Respect for individuals, differences, and cultures
- Intellectual freedom and diversity of thought

Through a variety of initiatives, such as targeted recruitment efforts; visit programs; utilization of current SIUE students and faculty/staff; and collaboration from the entire university community, we have seen the momentum continue in regards to underrepresented students on the campus of SIUE.

Efforts Include

- Chicago Area Bus Tour
  2018 - The Office of Admissions again held our annual Chicago Area Bus Tour, targeting admitted students from the Chicago area, including Chicago Public Schools. The program allows prospective students to meet other SIUE students, faculty and staff through a variety of fun activities and opportunities. For 2018, we filled one bus with 52... who attended the Chicago Area Bus Tour, 33 have enrolled at SIUE (as of 5/15/18). This is a 63% yield; by far our highest yield for any visit program.

- On-Site Admission Programs
  In collaboration with the high school counselors/fair organizers, various staff within the Office of Admissions visit targeted high schools/college programs (including expanding our efforts again in the local region), and offer on-site admission to those students who meet the SIUE admission criteria. These programs allow us to be one of the first universities students are admitted to as well as letting them know of their next steps to enrolling at SIUE.

- Various email and postcard campaigns
  To better yield admitted students, we do a series of emails and a postcard campaign to inform not only students, but also their families about the value of a SIUE education.
  - African-American postcard mailing (April 2018)
  - Hispanic postcard mailing (April 2018)

- Attendance at college fair programs targeting minority students

- Hosted the Illinois Association for College Admission Counseling (IACAC) Camp
  College program on the SIUE campus in July 2017. This program provided rising seniors the unique opportunity to learn about the college search and application process firsthand from college admission professionals and high school counselors. Participants learned about navigating a college fair, essay writing, identifying college fit/match, financial aid, and many more topics. In addition, students experienced living, eating, and playing while on the SIUE campus. The Office of Undergraduate Admissions covered the cost of facilities and various meals. This program will be hosted on the SIUE campus again in July 2018.
• Assisted with School of Pharmacy Healthcare Diversity Summer Camp. This is a one-week summer camp for rising high school sophomores, juniors and seniors with an interest in pursuing a degree in healthcare. The aim of the summer camp is to expose students to careers in healthcare (Pharmacy, Nursing, and Dental Medicine) offered at SIUE. The Office of Undergraduate Admissions assisted at this program with publications.

• Collaboration with the Hispanic Leaders Group of Greater St Louis (partnership with SIUE) including presentation by Anna Schuh, Admission Coordinator, to various members of the Hispanic Leadership Institute that includes 20 selected high school students from the region on the campus for a day (June 2018).

• Building of a partnership with St. Louis Graduates; a foundation whose mission is to increase the proportion of low-income, first generation and African American students in the St. Louis region who earn a postsecondary degree. Admission Counseling staff assisted with staffing their office during both the fall and spring terms. In addition, we collaborated with the foundation to provide resources and presentations relating to undocumented and DACA students and families.

• Collaborated with SIUE Safe Zone in staffing and assisting with the SIUE exhibit during St Louis Pride Week.

• Continued production of the Diversity and Inclusion brochure utilized in both application and yield efforts. This brochure was a collaboration with the Office of Institutional Diversity and Inclusion to provide a more comprehensive overview of all support available at SIUE.

• Continued scholarships offered to underrepresented students, including students going into various programs.

• Attendance at the “Sharing the Dream” annual conference held each May in Joliet, IL. This conference provides opportunities to learn more about supporting undocumented students on the campus.

To summarize, with the various programs and support from so many campus offices and individuals, the Office of Undergraduate Admissions continues to strive towards fulfilling the value of openness by recruiting and retaining a diverse student population.
In the fall of 2016, the Graduate School, along with the Office of Graduate and International Admissions, launched a pathway recruitment initiative focused on diversifying the SIUE applicant pool and increasing the number of qualified underrepresented students and students of color in our graduate programs. Recruitment efforts center on Minority Serving Institutions (MSI), Hispanic Serving Institutions (HSIs), Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs), and McNair programs at universities in states near Illinois.

In the pilot, SIUE Graduate Admissions staff worked with the Social Work and Art Therapy Graduate programs to help them connect with HBCUs within our region. In April of 2017, SIUE welcomed 12 students from two HBCUs (Lincoln University in Missouri and Lane College in Tennessee) for the Graduate Research Symposium and Visit Days. Building off this success, staff were able to visit 11 HBCUs last fall to attend recruitment events and make connections with representatives of these institutions.

Southern Illinois University Edwardsville was honored to be recognized as a Higher Education Excellence in Diversity (HEED) Award recipient in 2017 for the fourth consecutive year. SIUE is one of approximately 20 schools nationally to receive the HEED Award for four consecutive years. INSIGHT Into Diversity magazine, the oldest and largest diversity-focused publication in higher education, bestows this honor on select U.S. colleges and universities that demonstrate an outstanding commitment to diversity and inclusion.
According to Dr. Venessa Brown who submits the HEED Award application each year on behalf of the university, diversity and inclusion are embedded in the University’s mission, vision and values. Receiving our fourth consecutive HEED Award recognizes SIUE’s commitment to preserving a community of inclusiveness.

Our goal moving forward is to be recognized as one of INSIGHT Into Diversity's Diversity Champion schools, which are selected from the top tier of HEED Award recipients. Diversity Champion institutions exemplify an unyielding commitment to diversity and inclusion throughout their campus communities, across academic programs, and at the highest administrative levels. Known for visionary leadership, Diversity Champions are institutions that set the standard for thousands of other campus communities striving for diversity and inclusion. They develop successful strategies and programs, which then serve as models of excellence for other institutions. Diversity Champion schools exceed everyday expectations, often eclipsing their own goals.

We are proud to present the new 7-year 2018-2025 SIUE Diversity and Inclusion Strategic Plan, which is the result of countless hours of work by the University Diversity Council, faculty, staff, and students. Our hope is that SIUE’s commitment to the goals, objectives, and strategies in this Plan will be the catalyst to achieve even greater milestones for diversity and inclusion on our campus.

We developed this Diversity and Inclusion Strategic Plan with feedback and input from numerous conferences, summits, and discussions with faculty, staff, and students. We feel we have captured the voices of our campus and transformed these ideas into a Plan with solid goals to move us forward in the diversity and inclusion journey at SIUE.
