Copyright Agreement

I, _____, agree to allow the journal Learning for Democracy to publish my manuscript “Difference, disability, and deliberation: Developing inclusive communities through moral literacy, ethical leadership, and cultural design”. I acknowledge that the manuscript is my original work, that it has not been published elsewhere, and that I have permission to use any graphics or representations contained in the manuscript. I understand that copyright for this manuscript resides with the journal for one year after initial publication; after this date, the copyright will revert to author. During the one year period in which the journal holds copyright, the manuscript author may inquire in writing about permission to re-print sections from this article, subject to appropriate citation of the journal article in press.
