

CAREERS IN PUBLIC HEALTH SPEAKER SERIES

Are you looking for career insights in health communication or epidemiology?
This workshop is for you!

ALLIE BOMAN
LEAD EDITOR, BOMAN EDITING.

Allie Boman is a science writer and editor who leads Boman Editing, a team of communicators who support nonprofits, government agencies, and businesses.

Allie and her team help their clients prepare written products like research reports and fact sheets and digital offerings such as websites and social media.

They also consult on communication strategies and overcoming barriers to being heard and understood.

ELLEN SANTOS, PHD, MS
*EPIDEMIOLOGY PROGRAM MANAGER
ONE HEALTH PROGRAM
PIMA COUNTY HEALTH DEPARTMENT, TUCSON, AZ.*

Dr. Santos is an Epidemiology Program Manager at the Pima County Health Department in Tucson AZ where she oversees a team of epidemiologists centered around One Health.

Her team investigates cases of vector-borne and zoonotic diseases (i.e. West Nile Virus, Highly Pathogenic Avian Influenza H5N1), conducts surveillance of environmental health conditions (heat-related illness and mortality, Valley Fever, lead screening), and directs deep dives to understand social determinants of health.

Dr. Santos also leads the County's "One Health Clinic" called Healthy Companions - a mobile clinic targeting the unhoused and unstably housed population to provide integrated veterinary and human health services at the same time.
