Transitions Academy 2020

Like just about everything in 2020, the Transitions Academy looked different than it ever has. Held virtually on November 5th and 6th, a record number of people registered and attended the Academy. All presentations were recorded and are available for you to listen to and share with colleagues.

Are you looking for a mentor? With a mentor, you can connect with experienced ICAPS or Bridge programs, learn valuable lessons from their experience, have valuable resources shared by your mentor, and have a sounding board of expertise as you develop your program. If interested, contact Bevan Gibson at bgibson@siue.edu.

Digital Learning Lab

The Illinois Digital Literacy Lab (IDLL) exists to help students and teachers develop the 21st century skills needed for professional and personal success. IDLL empowers Illinois adult educators to become change-makers and entrepreneurs in their institutions and across the field by leveraging educators’ unique knowledge of learner needs and challenges to implement highly tailored tech innovations.

Building off the success of the inaugural IDLL, the 2019-2020 IDLL program engaged 26 educators from 22 institutions serving a diverse population of adult English language and literacy learners. Five groups of five educators worked closely with Subject Matter Experts across the span of a year to introduce, test, and discuss over 100 hardware and software tools. For the full report, click on the link here. Also check out this Skillrise article written by IDLL project manager, Michael Matos.

Why Do We Need The IDLL?

- 10.6% of Illinois adults, 1.3 million people, have less than 12 grades of formal education*
- 2.8 million Illinois residents speak a language other than English at home*
- 85% of learners who participated in IDLL tested below proficient in digital literacy skills
Illinois workNet Virtual Job Fair (VJF) Tool

Are you working with students who are seeking employment? The Illinois workNet Virtual Job Fair (VJF) tool is a great resource you can refer your students to so they can see which employers are hiring.

The VJF tool is an opportunity for students to learn about companies, their mission and culture, expectations in job candidates, what skills they will need, and how to apply for job openings. They may also communicate with representatives from employers that are hiring in Illinois at no cost. The VJF landing page on workNet allows job seekers to see which employers are hiring in Illinois. Employers may submit information about open job opportunities by creating an employer booth page. Employer booth pages include the following:

- Website and address information
- Number of job openings and a link with more information
- Description about the organization
- Contact information for a representative of that employer
- Upcoming VJF sessions
- Recorded VJF sessions
- Additional documents and links that job seekers may find helpful for the application process, perks and benefits, social media links, and more

Taking Career Foundations Low-Tech by Women Employed

No, that’s not a typo. In the midst of this unprecedented crisis, many Career Foundations students don’t have the digital access they need to continue their course work. So, while Women Employed is working on a digital version of Career Foundations, we also quickly created distance learning packages for students without reliable internet access to continue their work on paper. For a copy of our Career Foundations distance learning packets, contact Shirlondra Brooks at sbrooks@womenemployed.org.
