

AAC&U Strategic Initiative

TRUTH, RACIAL HEALING & TRANSFORMATION (TRHT) CAMPUS CENTERS

Preparing the Next Generation of Leaders to Advance Justice and Build Equitable Communities

Supported by Newman's Own Foundation, The Papa John's Foundation, and W.K. Kellogg Foundation

The SIUE Universities Studying Slavery Sankofa Lecture Series:

“Monuments in the Age of Black Lives Matter: The View from St. Louis”

The first of a series of robust conversations surrounding the history of slavery and its lasting legacies will explore the difference between memorial and monuments, the current public discourse regarding Confederate monuments, and the goals and purposes of monuments and memorialization.

Join SIUE professors Dr. Katherine Poole-Jones (Art and Design), Dr. Erik Alexander (History), and Dr. Jeff Manuel (History) as they discuss such topics as:

- Does removing monuments erase history?
- How else can or should we remember history if not through monuments?
- What do we choose to memorialize and why?

Thursday, Sept. 24 at 7:00 PM

Anyone interested in this important subject is encouraged to attend.

Registration is available at https://siue.zoom.us/webinar/register/WN_fGLYYaT0Tr6bHEHgWW9Zpg